8 TO 15 JULY 1990

- and more

Festival Community Events

Much more than just a music festival, Oundle International Organ Festival brings together musicians of international repute, promising young organ students and audiences for a week of concerts and music making in a lovely rural setting.

The historic market town buzzes with activity during Festival week as community and visitors enjoy the many special events so typical of small country towns.

Saturday July 14 is a day-long celebration as street organs play, classic cars are admired, crafts displayed and sold and local charities set up stalls to benefit good causes.

Segovia Guitar Trio

After the concert by the National Youth Jazz Orchestra, join in the dancing as Oundle, Thrapston and District Round Table organise a barbecue, in aid of Darsdale Home for the Blind, Raunds. Once again the night sky will glow with colour as the Rev'd Ron Lancaster sets off one of his firework spectacles.

Oundle Horticultural Society has its annual show on Saturday and Sunday, July 14 and 15. Held in the School's Great Hall, where teas and light refreshments are also served, opening times are Saturday 2.30 to 6pm; Sunday 2 to 5pm.

A week-long art exhibition by professional artists from the Oundle area takes place at the Yarrow Art Gallery, Glapthorn Road. Another aspect of a week of creativity.

Oundle in July is country living at its merriest and most musical.

In Action On The Wide Screen

At this year's Festival you can not only hear the organists you can see them too! Music students and audiences alike will enjoy the fascination of seeing just how energetic organists are. Usually unseen, the intricate footwork and registration will be revealed as a giant video screen relays the performances.
